Open Space Arts Society elects Board of Directors

August 15, 2018

Victoria — Members of Open Space Arts Society elected eleven members to their Board at the Society's AGM, held last Saturday, August 11, at the artist-run centre in downtown Victoria. The Board replaces the interim Board that has served since March of this year, although several interim board members have been elected to the new Board.

Elected for two-year terms, the new Board members are Sabrina Williams, Eli Hirtle, Charles Campbell, Doug Jarvis, Maria Eduarda Mendes Martins, Alexis Hogan, Kemi Craig, Joshua Ngenda, Lee Henderson, Angus Ferguson, and Mark Loria. Together they represent a diversity of communities, disciplines, and backgrounds, ranging from visual, music, and literary arts to the non-profit sector. Hunter Boucher was appointed as Society Past-President for the coming year.

The membership thanked the interim Board for their service to Open Space, including retiring members Michelle Jacques and Megan Quigley.

Open Space is an artist-run contemporary arts centre located at 510 Fort Street (second floor) in downtown Victoria.
